

Please give strong thought to the consequences of changing the Dividend Imputation Credit system. It would be a backward step that would slow investment as well as penalising the investors who try to keep the country running, as well as again taking away a valuable source of income for self funded retirees. It is hard to see how anyone could benefit!!!

Regards, Gary Bowdidge,