

I'd like to register my concern on the reports that franking credits may be abolished. Retirees have built their future plans on strategies requiring the franking credits and dividends and to change the goal posts is just unfair

Regards

Dave Conlin