

I am an old-age Pensioner with income support from Equities. Removal of dividend imputation will damage the share market and the return from it. I realise that the government would like to remove it because it would have the effect of increasing taxation without it being called an increase in taxation. I do not want a gift in the form of a bonus. I prefer the money being acquired for this purpose being spent on loans to the banks to keep them lending and also, gifted to small business to enable them to keep them employing in workers.

Bob Fisher