

Dear Dr Ken Henry

In reference to the suggestion published in the press in recent times, that you are proposing changes and possibly a reduction in the dividend imputation system in Australia, I wish to register my concern to this proposal.

As a self funded retiree this will result in a large reduction in my income and may mean that I will as a by-product qualify for a part pension. Many other older Australian retirees will be in the same position and this will mean an increase in the pension payout and a drain on the public purse.

Please reconsider this proposal and leave the system as it is.

Yours Faithfully
Peter Jennings
[removed for privacy reasons]