

Dear Sir/Madam,

I am the user of a Self-Managed Superannuation Fund. I believe the tax system should be supporting self-reliance in retirement saving and therefore supporting the choice and competition that SMSFs bring to Australia's superannuation system.

I am greatly concerned at reports that the Henry Tax Review is considering recommendations to remove or change the dividend imputation scheme. The current scheme helps to support my desire to invest in Australian companies. I believe a removal or change to the scheme is an unfair, unnecessary and retrograde step. I am greatly concerned that it will negatively impact on the value of Australian companies in which I invest and which provide me dividend income that includes franking credits.

I am writing to highlight my concern for Australian investors who rely on dividend income, especially retirees.

I regard the issue as serious enough to definitely affect my voting decision at the next Federal Election. Please confirm that the Government has no intention to change the current system of dividend imputation. I look forward to your response.

Yours sincerely,
Catherine Polglase
