

Dear Sir,

I have recently read that there may be changes to dividend imputation. In my opinion dividend the imputation and the franking credits scheme currently operating is a very fair, and I am worried that should changes be made it may end up with investors being double taxed.