

Dear Mr Rudd

The current financial crisis gives us an opportunity to address justice in Australia and all over the world. The rich have grown richer and more irresponsible with the money we all should share.

I urge the Australian Government to support international implementation of the Currency Transaction Development Levy (CTDL) that would tax the richest market of all, the trade in foreign exchange, worth a staggering $3,200 billion daily.

I also urge a reversal of the trend to lower corporate and personal income taxes, a trend that has benefited the rich at the expense of the poor over the past decade.

Why should the billionaires be immune to the system I work under?
Why can't they pay tax to help reduce poverty? To address climate change?

Please work against tax havens. This takes courage. The media are owned by the rich. But voters expect justice.

Sincerely
Anna Conyers
