

dear sir or madam

i have been amazed of late to discover that the situation with tax havens - tax evasion - is even worse than i ever thought possible and the current trends are very, very alarming 4 corners and the recent edition of new internationalist have now put this on the agenda and into the conversation of ordinary people - eg my local cafe this morning

please take steps to rectify this situation my gravest concern is for a safe climate future which will need substantial funds (not actually that substantial when contrasted with the world's spending on military etc) tax equity (adequately and fairly taxing the rich) would generate more than enough to fund social and environmental sustainability (see Plan B 2.0 Lester R Brown)

kind regards
giselle wilkinson
