

To whom it may concern,

I urge the Australian government to support the international implementation of the Currency Transaction Development Levy (CTDL) that would tax the richest market of all, the trade in foreign exchange, worth a staggering $3,200 billion daily.

I urge you to reverse the trend to lower corporate and personal income taxes, a trend that has benefited the rich at the expense of the poor over the past decade.

I urge you to follow the German's government lead and negotiate an arrangement with the States that sees motor vehicle tax rates depend on the amount of carbon emitted from exhausts.

I also urge you to do more to stop wealthy Australians from using tax havens to avoid their responsibilities.

Sincerely,

Shae Spry
