

Dear Sir/Madam,

I urge the Australian Government to support the international implementation of the Currency Transaction Development Levy (CTDL) that would tax the richest market of all, the trade in foreign exchange, worth a staggering $3,200 billion daily.

I also oppose the trend to lower corporate and personal income taxes, a trend that has benefited the rich at the expense of the poor over the past decade. Personally I would rather pay more tax and have better health and education systems than we currently do have here in Australia. At the same time I Urge the Australian Government to do more to stop wealthy Australians from using tax havens to avoid their responsibilities.

Yours sincerely

Stephen Williams
